Ocean County College Sailing Team Wins Nittany Lion Open Regatta

TOMS RIVER, NJ – Last weekend, Saturday, October 24 and Sunday, October 25, the Ocean County College Sailing Team won the Nittany Lion Open, hosted by Penn State University. Cornell University and Penn State finished second and third, respectively.

The OCC sailors won the A division and the B division of the regatta, the first time this year OCC has won both divisions.

Tyler Kennedy (Pine Beach) and Autumn Hoover (Lanoka Harbor) sailed in the A division. Holden Muehleisen (Tuckerton) and Bradford Wright (Lavallette) skippered in B division while Emily McCarthy (Brick) crewed.

Kennedy and Hoover have finished first in the A division in each of their last three regattas.

This coming weekend, Saturday, October 31 and Sunday, November 1, the OCC Sailing Team travels to St Mary's College, in Maryland, to compete in the Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate Sailing Association (MAISA) conference championships.
