

Policy

Ocean County College provides user accounts to access College Systems, access to these accounts are at the discretion of Ocean County College Administration and can be revoked at any time. Standard processes for disabling and deletion of accounts and files associated with those accounts are outlined in procedures set by the OCC Office of Information Technology and OCC IT Governance.

Gaining access to an Ocean County College account does not give a user access to all OCC systems, access to systems are designated based on the role of the user.

Users with Ocean County College accounts are responsible for the way in which those accounts are used. Responsible Use of Communication Systems and Information Technology is outlined in Policy #2500. Data Classification and appropriate use of Data is outlined in Policy #2220. Improper use of the account can result in revocation.
